

In the midst of World War I, another devastation - "Spanish Flu" - infected people throughout the world. By the time it was all over, only one place on the planet had not reported an outbreak: Marajó, an isolated island in Brazil's Amazon delta.

This film, which includes discussions with people who lived-through the Spanish Flu outbreak, tells the story from a human (not a scientific) perspective.

Credits:

"We Heard the Bells," a film by Lisa Laden and narrated by S. Epatha Merkerson. Online, courtesy FedFlix at Archive.org.

Executive Producer for CMS: Dr. James Randolph Farris, M.D.

A presentation from the U.S. Department Of Health And Human Services, Centers For Medicare & Medicaid Services.

PD

See Alignments to State and Common Core standards for this story online at:

<http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicAlignment/Spanish-Flu-We-Heard-the-Bells-0>

See Learning Tasks for this story online at:

<http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicActivities/Spanish-Flu-We-Heard-the-Bells-0>